ANA LUISA ARAÚJO

Constructing Architect and Project Manager

Profile

Originally from Brazil, I have lived in 4 different countries so far and the experience I have gained and still do is unexchangeable.

I like to think of myself as a charismatic and warm problem solver and leader. I thrive in problematic situations where I am put in control in order to find a solution.

I flourish the most in instances where I can use my planning and documentation skills to bring order and clear goals to the work that should be done.
